A new trophy has been presented for the 1974 World Cup because the Jules Rimet trophy was won outright by Brazil after they took it for the third time in 1970. Their earlier successes had occurred in 1958 and 1962.

The present tournament is the 10th since the inception in 1930. This initial venture was held in Montevideo, Uruguay and the host nation won it. On that occasion there were only 13 entries but over the years it has grown in size and importance. For the 1974 competition an entry of 96 countries was recorded.

In 1934 the finals were held in Italy and again it was the host nation who proved successful. Thirty-two countries entered originally for it and the final stages were decided on a knock-out basis.

Four years the finals were held in France but the Italians were able to keep the trophy and there were 36 original entries for this third World Cup.

The war prevented any further competitions being organised and it was not until 1950 that the fourth series was held. This time the setting for the finals was Brazil.

One of the reasons for choosing a South American country was that this part of the world had not been affected by the ravages of World War Two. But though a country from this Continent won it, the Brazilians were beaten finally by Uruguay who had, of course, been the first winners twenty years before.

This 1950 competition was the first in which the four British associations entered but only England reached the finals out of an entry of 31, though the final composition of the latter stages was reduced by withdrawals.

The 1954 tournament was held in Switzerland and ultimate success went to the West Germans. Four more years and it was Sweden which was chosen as the final venue. The entries had shot up to 53 by this time and the final sixteen included not only England, but Scotland, Ireland and Wales, too. Yet in the end it was Brazil who were successful, the first time a country outside the host continent had been victorious.

For 1962 it was back to South America and Chile was decided upon as the place for the final stages. This time Brazil emulated the feat of Italy in pre-war days when they won it on two successive occasions by retaining the trophy.

In 1966 the final stages were held in England. And again the tremendous advantage of playing on home soil contributed to the hosts doing well. In fact England won the World Cup beating West Germany 4-2 after extra time, which was probably the most exciting of all previous finals.

Unfortunately the conditions for the 1970 competition in Mexico were vastly different and in this it was the Brazilians who were able to adapt themselves better to it quite naturally and took the trophy for themselves.

Actually the Jules Rimet Trophy itself had been designed by a French sculptor Abel Lafleur. It stood a foot high and weighed around nine pounds in gold. The new FIFA World Cup was designed by an Italian after a selection of 53 had originally been looked at. It, too, is made of gold.

Of the 96 original entries for the 1974 competition many famous nations fell by the wayside on the Road to Munich where the finals are to be held this summer. Among them were England, (eliminated by Poland) Hungary, Portugal and Russia who refused to play their second match play-off with Chile and were disqualified from the competition.

However the major triumph for Britain came from Scotland who had reached the finals in 1954 and 1958. They finished top of their group above Czechoslovakia and Denmark to give the game a timely boost there.

Consolation for England came through Australia's qualification because their squad contained a few Englishmen who had emigrated "down under", but also several of Scottish origin, too, which just about gave the last word to the Scots in the 1974 World Cup qualifying competition.

WORLD CUP 1974 QUALIFYING COMPETITION RESULTS

West Germany qualified as hosts; Brazil as holders.

WARRANTY

The publishers of The Wonderful World of SOCCER STARS unreservedly warrant that an identical quantity of stamps of every number and letter have been printed. No specific stamps have been withheld or kept in short supply in the special mixing process of the stamps before packing. To facilitate completion of individual collections, however, the publishers will supply any specific stamps required by collectors up to a maximum of 90 stamps for the book. Each stamp will cost $\frac{1}{2}$ p and payment should be made by Postal Order or cheque.

Please address all requests for stamps to F.K.S. Publishers Ltd., Warwick House, 334 Kilburn High Road, London NW6 2QN, stating clearly by number and letter the ones required. Always use an official order form contained in this book – no additional order forms are available, as this would defeat the object of the collecting and swapping element of this game. THE OFFER EXPIRES ON JUNE 30th, 1975.

To cover posting and handling charges, however, the publishers make a nominal charge of 9p on each single order form executed and regret that, in addition, collectors must order a minimum of 3p worth of stamps at all times. No more than 45 stamps for the book may be ordered on any one form, nor will more than one stamp of any particular player be supplied with each order. Orders will be despatched as soon as possible, but please allow 3 weeks for delivery.

NONE OF THE PLAYERS DEPICTED ON THE STAMPS, NOR THE CLUBS TO WHICH THEY BELONG, HAVE ASSISTED IN OR RECEIVED ANY FINANCIAL OR OTHER REWARD IN CONNECTION WITH THE PRODUCTION OF EITHER THE STAMPS OR THIS BOOK. FURTHERMORE, IN ORDER TO MAINTAIN AUTHENTICITY, SOME OF THE PLAYERS HAVE BEEN PHOTOGRAPHED IN CLOTHING WHICH IS NOT NECESSARILY THEIR OFFICIAL NATIONAL COLOURS. THE FLAGS DEPICTED ON THE STAMPS ARE THE OFFICIAL FLAGS OF THE RESPECTIVE COUNTRIES.

This collection contains 15 or 16 players from each of the qualifying countries, whom the publishers believe will form part of their national squads for MUNICH 74.

However, collectors are reminded that, in the nature of Football, personnel changes can occur from day to day in the various teams. The information, both written and pictorial has been checked and was correct at the time of going to press.
